The question involved the whole theory of the prosecution—that Patrick was unacquainted with the man whose estate he now claims.

Patrick's face was flushed. Leaning forward he said: "The evidence shows I knew him."

"When?" thundered Osborne.

"May 25." said Patrick.

"I shall show you that all this had been going on before May 25." shouted Osborne.

In his opening sentences Mr. Osborne called Patrick a murderer.
